DISCLAIMER:
 While we're confident that the new Code of Ethics represents a first step in the right direction, we're also aware that it's not perfect. There's always room for improvement, and we're committed to listening to our members' feedback. We intend to hold a public consultation session in the summer of 2016. We're also not yet done with the work of the Ethics Committee, and we're looking forward to continuing our work in the future. The changes to the Code of Ethics are a work in progress, and we're looking forward to continuing our work in the future.
